SUMMARY

I'm a passionate software developer with a strong eye for detail and a love for turning ideas into interactive web experiences. With a solid foundation in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and React, I focus on building responsive, accessible, and user-friendly interfaces. I'm driven by a deep interest in technology's power to solve real-world problems and improve lives. Currently honing my craft through hands-on projects and collaborative learning, I aim to build scalable solutions that create lasting impact in my community and beyond.
